vill upgrade EMS services soon

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Former Romulus School Board president Daniel Bales claims he technically "died briefly" after suffering a heart attack last year.

Bales, joined by his wife, Carole, however attended Monday night's council meeting and urged the council members to strongly consider upgrading their ambulance services to an advanced life support level.

Bales said he was pointing no finger of blame at the Romulus Fire Department for his "flat-lining episode," but said if the local ambulance service begins carrying advanced life support services, fewer chances of such dying episodes will occur.

Bales blamed his heart attack instead on the fact that he was 54, overweight and a heavy mended that the city continue its basic ambulance service cycle, since Romulus is located so near Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and Heritage Hospital in Taylor.

Using the basic life support cycle gets the patient to the hospital quicker, Allison said.

But local councilmen asked for a study session on the issue, before such a contract agreement was approved with Community Emergency Medical Service (which operates an office-garage on Goddard road) in Romulus.

A vote on the ambulance service change could come as early as March 23.

Councilwoman Debby Romak countered by saying that Taylor is a lot closer to Heritage Hospital and yet it carries the advanced medical care services.

Councilman William Crova said "I don't even know why we are even having this study session. This is a no brainer - I favor the advanced life support services even if it only saves one patient."

Carole Bales continued to ask CMS leaders "why did the ambulance have its siren on coming to our house, but not when it was taking Dan to the hospital?"

Mayor William Oakley asked the same question toward the end of the study session, but neither Bales nor Oakley felt they received a satisfactory answer from CEMS leaders.

It appeared that CEMS personnel thought that Bales was suffering from a flu like problem last year and not having a heart attack. It was discovered at Heritage Hospital that Bales indeed had suffered a heart attack and doctors administered a new drug that dissolved a blood clot that was affecting him at the time.

He later was transferred to Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn for more advanced care.

Thus Oakley agreed to give the council a chance to vote on switching to an advanced medical pact later this month. He urged Allison to restudy the service options and revise his recommendation so that it did not appear that the council was overruling him.

Craig Glomsead, vice president in business administration for CEMS, said his firm will gladly switch to the up- stabilize the patient at the graded system if asked by Romulus city officials.

If the city opts for the advanced life support cycle of medical care, Glomstead said, more experienced EMS personnel will be on board the ambulances serving Romulus and additional equipment will be inside the vehicle to help scene, prior to his/her being transported to the hospital.

In an unrelated item, the city council supported the rezoning of property currently containing an old home at the southeast corner of Hannan and Ecorse roads.

The petitioner, Nassir "Michael" Salamey, successfully asked for a change from the C-2 Business to C-3 Highway Service zoning so that a gas station (possibly a Marathon Oil Co. facility), convenience store and carry out fast food outlet could be erected.

Salamey said the current home on the property would be demolished.

The zoning change had earlier gotten a positive recommendation from the Romulus Planning Commission.

At least seven Rudgate West residents had appeared at the Planning Commission hearing to voice concern over possible increased traffic

Housing rezoning nixed

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A rezoning request to switch home sites in the Waynecourse Subdivision from R1-A to R1-B was rejected Monday night by the Romulus City Council.

The council followed the denial recommendation given by the city's Planning Commission for the home sites north of firm. Ecorse road between Wayne and Henry Ruff roads.

Advanced Engineering Services, owners of housing lots in the subdivision, said they had purchased the lots prior to a change in R1-A requirements.

They told both the Planning Commission earlier and the City Council members on Monday that the new lot widths ordered by the city cannot be met economically by their

The pair displayed drawings of what the planned Two representatives from homes would look like, but nied by a 7-0 vote.

Mayor pro tem Randy Gear complained that they provided "too much house on too small a piece of property.'

Councilman William Wadsworth said he was not in favor of rezoning the properties, feeling it was a backward step for housing.

Councilman LeRoy Burcroff made the motion to deny the rezoning request with the support of Councilman Donald Morris. The request was de-

Bank 'robbery victim' held for filing false city police report

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A Garden City man, who claimed that he was robbed and pistol-whipped outside the NBD Bank on Middlebelt road on Feb. 6, has been arrested by Romulus detectives for filing a false police report.

Detective Sgt. Cora Semrau revealed that Michael Holt, 26, was arrested on a felony warrant for filing a false police report. Holt, a white man from Garden City, reported on Feb. 6 that he was robbed by two black men about 8:15 p.m. while withdrawing $140 in cash from the bank's outdoor ATM machine.

Holt gave precise descriptions of his alleged attackers to police, that caused some concern among bank customers.

Holt also claimed that he fought with the first reported bandit (who he said had crooked yellow teeth), until a second alleged black man (reportedly wearing a red headband) arrived armed with a handgun and whippped him across the face with the weapon, Semrau said quoting from the alleged victim's state-

The detective said initially Holt was reluctant to give a report on the alleged holdup, but did so at the urging of his wife following treatment for a broken nose at the hospital. No follow-up information was released on how Holt actually suffered the facial injuries.

Semrau said it was confirmed that Holt did take $140 from the ATM machine that night, but it strongly appears he was not held up at the bank site based on a review of the bank's video camera film.

Holt was arraigned in an out-county courtroom on Saturday Feb. 21 and ordered held in $2,000 personal bond. A preliminary hearing was slated at the 34th District Court yesterday. A report on that hearing will appear in next Thursday's Romulus Roman newspaper.

If convicted of the felony, Holt could face four years in jail and be fined $2,000 or both.

'Suspended' judge could lose salary

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Suspended Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Andrea Ferrara is now in jeopardy of losing her $109,257 annual sal-

Ferrara was suspended from her court post last year by the Michigan Supreme Court, after reported tape recordings surfaced via her exhusband Howard Tarjeft that contained offensive comments concerning African-Americans, Arabic residents and Jewish officials.

Ferrara at first denied making such comments, but later admitted the voice on the tapes was hers.

On Monday, Allan Sobel, head of the Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission, asked the state Supreme Court to terminate the judge's salary, until the top court rules on her future this summer.

Sobel conducted the hearing into the racial/ethnic tape issues in the 34th District Court of Romulus late last

Last month, the state tenure commission recommended that Ferrara be removed from her court office and be barred from returning in the future.

Since I feel Ferrara has been proven unfit for judicial office, Sobel said, I would recommend that the taxpayers not be forced to pay her compensation pending the top court's final decision.

Ferrara's attorney Mark Bendure however revealed he would fight such an effort calling it "overkill" and "cruelminded."

Hays' farm awarded 'centennial' By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A 22 acre horse farm owned by Frederick and Helen Hay of Romulus has been designated a centennial farm by the Michigan Historical Commission. Secretary of State Candice S. Miller announced last week.

The farm at 14170 Huron River drive has been in the Hay-Morris family since 1891. It recently made regional news as the site where a group of Arabian horses found uncared for by Romulus law enforcement officers were treated last summer and later auctioned off by the city.

I congratulate Fred and Helen Hay as their farm joins the roster of more than 5,000 such Michigan farms.

Candice S. Miller

The Hays both have been active in the Romulus Kiwanis Club (both have served as club president), local historical circles and both are members of the Community United Methodist Church.

Hay is active with the Downtown Development Association and his wife is a Romulus Cable Commissioner.

The Hays received notification of the centennial farm honor last week, just prior to leaving for an annual meeting of American D-Day survivors in Pennsylvania.

"I congratulate Fred and Helen Hay as their farm joins the roster of more than 5,000 such Michigan farms," Miller

"Centennial farm owners can be proud of their efforts to preserve Michigan's rich farming heritage," Miller added.

In its early years the farm was noted for its fruit supplies such as strawberries, raspberries and plums, Hay revealed Monday night.

It has been primarily a horse farm since 1969.

Hay thinks that his family's farm is the third so designated in the Romulus area. The other two belong to George Carpenter and former City Councilman Junior Block, he

The Michigan Centennial

Farm program began back in 1948 with support of the Detroit Edison Co.

The Hays will receive both an official certificate and an outdoor metal display marker.

To qualify a farm must be at least 10 acres and must have been in the same family's possession for 100 years. The Michigan Historical Commission also has established a Sesquicentennial Farm Program to recognize certified farms that have been owned by the same family for 150 years or longer.

Anthropologist's dream comes true in 'Krippendorfs Tribe'

By SYIBLE MARR MCN Special Writer

Imagine you are an anthropologist in the deep jungles of New Guinea. Swamp Land to the left of you and thick brush to the right. You trample through the mud beneath your feet you happen upon a section of land that is occupied by other people. People nobody has ever seen, except you. You meet with the leader of this lost tribe and become friends. You log all the information you can on the tribe. Finding every small detail out from the mating rituals to the hut decor. Then you head back to the United States to break out the wonderful news.

Now this is an anthropologist's dream come true. You'll receive tons of recognition and not to mention money for the exploitation of the new tribe. Nothing could be better. If this is how it went. Unfortunately for the professor in the movie Krippendorf's Tribe this is not how it happens.

Tribe stars Richard Dryfuss as anthropologist and recent widow James Krippendorf. Instead of finding a new tribe in New Guinea he finds a new way to spend the grant money his University has given him for months of research on the triba

Now he must come up with a speech on the new tribe and video to prove their existence. Not easy when there are none. Yet with the help of his dysfunctional family, he provided the data necessary for the fake

He dresses his children up as natives and transforms his backyard into a New Guinea neighborhood. He changes his umbrella picnic table to the family hut and he scattered farm animals all over his suburban back yard.

Everyone is fooled, except his arch enemy Ruth Allen played by Lilley Tomlin. She vows to show everybody that he was wrong and in the process ruin his reputation. The way to do so, fly to New Guinea and search for the lost tribe.

This movie was pretty funny. Between the antics of Dryfuss and his wild children, and the antics of his right hand man (I mean woman) played by Jenna Elfman.

The ending was quite a surprise. Not only does Tomlin's character fail at making Dryfuss a failure, but his family grows closer.

This is a movie the older children and parents can enjoy together. You may even get a couple of pointers on how to handle the family problems next time your teenager refuses to spend time with the family

Energy audit saves schools $7,000

By IVAN HELFMAN MCN Staff Writer

Though homeowners strive to save $10 a month on utility bills, last year Wayne-Westland Community Schools saved over $700,000 in energy and operating costs.

More amazing, the savings were made without spending any taxpayers money. Instead they resulted from a performance contract with Johnson Controls, a Plymouth company specializing in increasing energy efficiencies.

Using future energy savings anticipated from the program, the district was able to invest $5.4 million in facility improvements. More will be paid for with money from the recently passed $108 million

The Performance Contract undertaken by Wayne-Westland Community Schools was the result of an intensive engineering study of the school's facilities. Though many types of improvements were considered, Johnson Controls said it recommended only those improvements that offered the greatest return and quickest payback. Special consideration was given to areas and equipment that required increased maintenance and/or replacement in the near fu-

The project consisted of the following:

1) Light fixtures in every building were upgraded to Class III Electronic ballasts and T-8 fluorescent lamps. These new components in the existing fixtures improved light levels while significantly reducing energy consumption. Reflectors were installed in fixtures where light levels were insufficient. In addition to providing energy savings, the lighting upgrade provided significant operational savings in the avoidance of material and labor costs associated with lamp and ballast replace-

2) A computerized energy management system was installed in the secondary schools to control the buildings major mechanical systems. By controlling building boilers for maximum efficiencies, the district avoids excessive energy usage.

3) Thirteen school buildings were equipped with new modular boilers.

4)Infrared heaters were installed at the Maintenance Office and Bus Garage. These units replaced suspended unit heaters that were seriously in need of replacement.

5)Energy efficient chillers were installed at seven school buildings, bringing the District into compliance with EPA regulations.

Statistics argue against gun laws

The State Legislature is debating a series of bills that would liberalize requirements for obtaining a concealed gun permit. One of the bills, House Bill 5557 would allow applicants to request a closed door hearing. To do this, the bills author, our very own Eileen DeHart of Westland, suggests we amend the state's Open Meetings Act to allow a county gun permit board to close its meeting to the public.

We ask the legislature to let this piece of legislation and its companions, bills that would place the burden of proof on the state to show that a citizen should not receive a permit, die a slow hard death. We do not need to make it easier to get a handgun and here's why

-From 1968 through 1994, the number of firearm-related deaths increased by more than sixty percent. In 1994 the number was 39,721, with the bulk of those deaths being suicide related.

-In five years, gunfire will have surpassed automobile accidents as the leading cause of traumatic death in the United States.

—More U.S. teenagers die of gunshot wounds than of all natural causes combined. From 1985 to 1993, homicides involving firearms increased by 56%. The rate among 15 to 19 year-olds increased 212%.

—Firearms are involved in 65% of suicides among teens. Suicides among children have been increasing, and the acquisition of guns makes suicide attempts more successful.

Mike's musings Mike Wilcox

From 1982 to 1992, the suicide rate for children increased by 122%.

Many gun advocates will have you believe an armed society is a safer society. Statistics tell a different story. The comparison between Seattle and Vancouver, two very similar neighboring cities, with similar demographics and rates of criminal activity indicate that the handgun homicide rate is five times greater in Seattle. Could that be because Vancouver citizens must abide by a very strict Canadian handgun law.

Our laws are fine as they are. Our state lawmakers need not tinker with the current way things are being done. Maybe it is en vogue to champion that causes of gun enthusiasts but it seems to me Eileen DeHart and others behind these new set of bills could spend their time better on more important issues. Making it easier to get handguns should be shoved to the back of the agenda, and quickly!

School renovation plan way to go

Of course Van Buren Board of Education Trustee Tom Bowles can't rest on his laurels after the recent school sinking fund millage election.

Bowles helped lead his forces to defeat the proposed $30 million bond by two votes.

Though this was the third time Bowles' side won, the margin was so puny that it's emboldening the other side — primarily the school employee unions and friendly administrators — to quickly run a fourth election.

To counter the anticipated proposal, Bowles and Trustee Vesta Losen have made a compromise counterproposal that voters should consider.

Bowles said: "The following plan will accomplish well beyond what the failed sinking fund millage would have accomplished, and do so at a $15,000,000 savings, over the sinking fund proposals projected expenditures."

The plan proposes two millage votes. The first is 2-mil six-year sinking fund tax to be used as follows: to build or renovate almost a school a year. Construction would be supplemented by the $800,000 per year revenue the district is supposed to receive from the state as reimbursement for money the district was unfairly charged to fund state mandated programs for handicapped pupils.

The second millage proposal is for 1.5-mil one-year tax that would raise about $1.3 million to be used for a new band room.

The advantages of this proposal are: 1) It doesn't waste any money on interest; 2) It frees the board from grandstanding about bond elections, freeing them to tackle the district's shamefull high school proficiency test score results.

In case you didn't know, only 33.4 percent of the district's eleventh graders passed math; 35.5 percent passed reading; 15.7 percent passed writing; and 24.9 percent passed science (source: The Detroit

The only problem with Bowles' proposal is that it doesn't include a proposal to revamp the district's multicultural curriculum with a useful one, and to replace its progressive education methods with traditional ones. Without commitment to a plan to achieve 95 percent proficiency in all subjects, there's really no reason to renovate the schools. Another year of 35.5 percent reading proficiency and voters would be better off supporting a millage to demolish the schools instead of renovating them.

Parenting Class Has Far Reaching Effects

Dear Mr. Ross: I'm a high school Home Economics instructor teaching "parenting." I was fortunate enough to have our district fund a "Baby Think It Over" doll. This is a computerized crying doll that my students take home overnight so they have some idea what it's like to become a parent and be awakened at all hours of the night. This doll has really worked! My students don't want to become teen parents after living with this doll. One of my "A" students said, "I'd rather fail this class than have to take that crying thing home again." To make this assignment complete and more realistic I would like to get a car seat, stroller, diaper bag (filled with heavy formula cans) and clothes for the baby doll to wear. I would greatly appreciate any amount you could send to help me make this project work. If it prevents one teen pregnancy, I think it's worth it!

Ms. J. L. ... Rockford, IL

Dear Ms. L.: The $300 I'm sending indicates my level of support for your teen parenting program. I've awarded many "Baby Think It Over" dolls to schools with the hope that they would help prevent teen pregnancies. One teacher wrote me back saying, "The doll you sent has made many of my girls think twice about having sex. This helps reduce the number of sexually transmitted diseases. I think my students have better self-esteem this year and are thinking more about making an investment in their future, rather than just having a good time at a party." I ask, "How can any school afford to be without a 'Baby Think It Over?"

Dear Mr. Percy: I'm writing to request $250. This amount will assist me in locating the son I put up for adoption in 1965. I have located a confidential intermediary who will do the legal work necessary to get the court to open the files so we can locate him. She will then contact him and determine if he wants to get in touch with me. She does not charge for her time, just reimbursement for the fees and expenses. I am permanently disabled with clinical depression and receive Social Security of $532 a month. I had one other child who died 12 years ago. It has taken me this long to make up my mind to search for the son I put up for adoption. But now I know that this is something I really want and need to do. My son who died committed suicide. He had not married and had no children. I am now 57 years old and, hopefully, have some grandchildren who need me.

Ms. J. H. ... The Enterprise, Lynnwood, WA

Dear Ms. H.: It's a scary thing you're doing. You realize you may subject yourself to rejection and disappointment. But evidently you've put a lot of thought into this, so you must be going into it with your eyes wide open. Your request is granted, but unlike a fairy godfather, I can't make the promise that you'll live happily ever after.

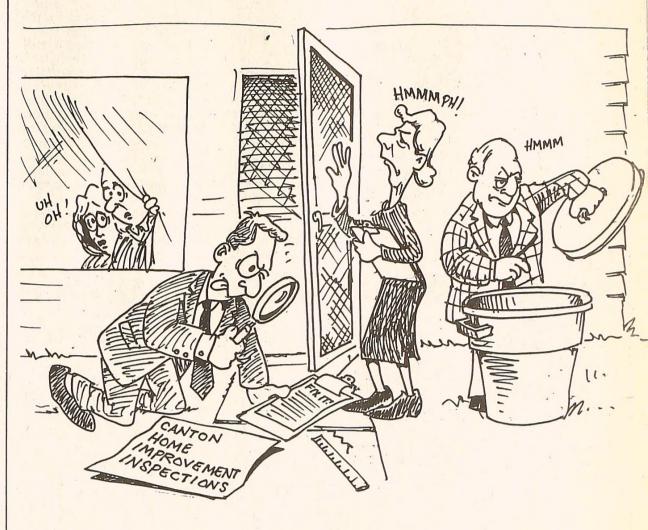

Sir: Most of the time your generosity is directed to truly deserving cases, but when you make amistake it is a beaut. I refer to the recent appeal from Clarinta of Fort Dodge. This rude child not only ridiculed your given name, but then had the gall to unashamedly ask for financial help for her slut of an older sister. This dame just had a baby by a live-in boyfriend who immediately left her. I'll bet that either she or the little punk sister will seek help from you again after the slut has another baby in a year. Please don't be so dumb

Mr. W. J. M. ... New York, NY

Dear Mr. M.: I see you don't believe in sugarcoating how you feel about something. If I were handing out prizes for being blunt and direct, you Sir, would be my winning choice for today.

Banned customer has no love for restaurant

To the editor: In response to your article about a local restaurant I suggest the following.

#1-Put the owner on his Donkey and display him as the jackass he really is. Last February I was banned from the restaurant by John for giving his waitress "Tanya" a few presents. Never mind the fact that she told one of her customers that she would "Marry me in a minute." I was banned and branded as a stalker. My girlfriend was laughing about this at the time.

Then I went to Springfield, Illinois to play baseball. I sent the presents to Tanya through the mail because the owner gave them back to me. So, now I'm stalking her for 6 months from Springfield, IL even though I don't know her last name, address or phone number and never asked her for it. When I came back from Springfield, Illinois and started going dancing in Westland, I was banned from Daisy Dukes when I raised hell when someone tried to sell drugs to my date for the night.

Next, I was banned from Frankies in Garden City for going on the dance floor without a girl accompanying me. Now I have a blast at the Rockaway, which has the best bouncers. They listen to the girls not the guys. Hey guys if you can't fast - don't blame me. To the owner I say-I am in love with Christina, 19 yrs old, Linda, Sonya age 21, Veronica 18 years, Pamela, 28 years old, Tammie age 34, but they are out the windows, as distractions! I have a tryout March 19th in Viera Florida with the Florida Marlins, as a pitcher-my license plate reads TY-COBB-4, Illinois.

Schools can't be renovated for $5 million

To the editor:

The Parents and Citizens for Accountability in Education presented their second eleventh hour plan at last Thursday's school board meeting. Their first eleventh hour plan was presented to us during the recent public debate and they have since dripped that plan. Their latest proposed plan has some problems with it too. In my opinion we already have a plan that will work. It addresses the priority needs, not wants, of the district. Let me now explain my opinion.

First, a significant part of their proposed plan includes the use of Durant money that the district may never receive. You see there is a pending lawsuit that may prevent the distribution of these moneys to Michigan School Districts. The reasons stated in the pending law suit are that these moneys should come back to us, the citizens of Michigan, not the school districts because it constitutes a triple tax. We paid the tax to the state in the first place, the state would have to borrow the money to pay the school because they don't have it any longer so we pay a second tax to pay the principle on the state's loan, and then we pay the interest on the state loan for a third tax. A very legitimate argument. The old adage 'don't count you chickens before they hatch' in this case makes a lot of sense, common sense.

Second, their proposed plan estimates he revenues will amount to approximately $2.5 million dollars per year to renovate Edgemont and Rawsonville Elementary Schools in the first two years for a total of $5 million. Their revenue estimates, and this is important to remember, also include the Durant money. Setting the Durant issue aside for a moment though, it is important to note that these schools can't be renovated for anywhere near their plan revenues of $5 Million (without the Durant money $3.35 million). Why? Because the cost to renovate 80% of the cost of new schools. Which puts the actual renovation costs at $8.8 million for both schools. And when you're done you still have a school that still has major structural components that are 45 years old. Remember, these two schools were built to specifications that are commonly referred to as a California Design. They were built cheaply to address the immediate needs of the Baby Boomers coming into the district in the early fifties. Renovating a cheaply built structure is not a cost effective way to spend tax dollars in the long run. As someone recently said "renovating those two schools is like putting lipstick and earrings on a pig." That is why the School Board is asking for the money to replace, not renovate, these two schools.

Third, where will all the kids attend classes if these schools were renovated? How much will that cost? Certainly they're not suggesting that kids attend classes in other wings of the building while renovations take place. What about all the asbestos that has to be removed? What will all these costs amount too? This a significant undetermined financial shortfall.

Fourth, their proposed plan left out the well documented air exchange problems in many of the district's classrooms. Creating another shortfall of $3.3 million.

Their proposed plan goes on to list other additional renovations that seem pointless to discuss further because their proposed plan is out of money and well over budget at this juncture.

Simply put, eleventh hour plans rarely work because they then lack benefits found in the application of critical thinking skills that are always attendant with a well thought out plan. The Board's plan is based on three years of input from committees, parents and community members. For those reasons and my own personal review of the Board's plan by way of obtaining information through the Freedom of Information Act, as a method to confirm what I was told, I continue to support the proposal as presented to the community by the Board of Education.

Bob Thorne Community Committee for Continued Educational Excellence

Thanks for the senior luncheon

To the editor:

Thanks to our Senior director and her staff, the visit of our Governor Engler and Senator Bennett, it was a great accomplishment for our seven politicians, and our city of Westland. Governor Engler seemed impressed and answered our many questions, even going overtime.

The luncheon put on by Senator Bennett and his staff was great. It looks like our city of Westland is getting popular with the Present Clinton's visit and now our Governor Engler, Senator Bennett visits often, too.

Senator Bennett's assistant Bill Case attends our Senior Commission on aging meetings and we really enjoy him.

A big thank you for all who helped in anyway to make this possible.

Probate court services are expanded

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Residents of the cities of Romulus, Belleville, Inkster, Wayne and Westland as well as Canton, Huron, Van Buren and Sumpter Townships can now receive expanded services of the Wayne County Probate Court.

Probate Court Judge Milton L. Mack Jr. said "persons living in those communities may now have petitions filed on their behalf for the appointment of guardianship and conservatorship of adults, minors and the developmentally disabled at the Northville Court located at 41001 W. Seven Mile Road in Northville and have their cases heard.

The cases will be heard by Judge Cathie B. Maher.

We hope that this will be more convenient to the public and increase our own efficiency. We expect that this will enable people to travel a shorter distance and avoid problems with transportation and parking.

- Milton Mack

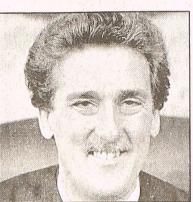

"We hope that this will be more convenient to the public and increase our own efficiency," Mack said. "We expect that this will enable people to travel a shorter distance and avoid problems with transportation and parking," he added.

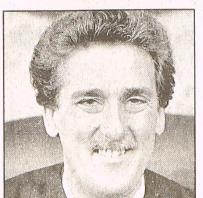

Filing a petition for guardianship of an adult or minor is often difficult enough for family members, Mack added. "If we can ease some of that difficulty, we are happy to do that," the judge said.

"We anticipate that, on an annual basis, 1,200 families will benefit. For those who are appointed to handle a person's affairs, normally, they would have to go downtown to file inventories, accounts and annual reports.

Now that will change with the expansion of cases heard at the Northville Court.

For further information call Probate Register Jeanne S. Takenaga at 313-224-5725.

180 handicapped cited by church

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A total of 180 handicapped Belleville area nursing home residents (many confined to wheelchairs) from 16 different homes were treated royally recently by the Rev. Edwin Hoff and scores of volunteer helpers from the Belleville United Methodist Church.

The handicapped persons were honored at the church's annual Thanksgiving in February meal - an event envisioned 24 years ago by the late Rev. Roger Arnette.

Hoff, a wheel-chair bound pastor, picked up the concept years later and declared "the Thanksgiving in February dinner breaks up the winter months, which can be so depressing for these special peo-

Scores of Belleville UMC volunteers travel to the various nursing homes and transport the men and women to the church for the dinner, entertainment and fellowship each

"For some of the residents, it is the only day of the year they go on an outing," Hoff

Over the years the volunteers and the well treated handicapped residents get to know each others faces. While some of those cited in past years have since passed on, new faces are now emerging for the volunteers to minister to, a veteran volunteer said.

This year's entertainment included: the church's Quarter Notes youth choir, The Joyful Noise adult traveling music group, the church's newest musical group The Blessed Bells bell choir and the A LaMode Barber Shop Quartet.

Noted local clown The Balloon Man added a great deal of humor to the evening.

As usual the festive dinner was completed with a singa-long period as those in attendance joined the church organist Gwen Ashe in various musical renditions of well known songs.

"God blessed us for sure on Feb. 22," Hoff said, "as a beautiful sunny day added new life to many of those special persons attending the festivities at the church."

Hoff, who visits about 35 nursing homes on a regular basis, admits that only a small number of those he sees are actually United Methodists, thus he states "I keep my ministry as ecumenical as possible." Not only is he happy to visit the infirmed, Hoff also continually works to excite others into becoming volunteer visitors to the homes.

He reminds them "there can never be too many "friendly visitors" among these needy people.

Romulus is in need of a hoop miracle

Eagle victory, Rouge loss may help cause

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

It was the worst of times for Romulus to have a letdown.

Romulus (9-2) is a win behind league-leading River Rouge (10-1), and the Panthers can sew up the title outright tonight with a victory over host, Belleville.

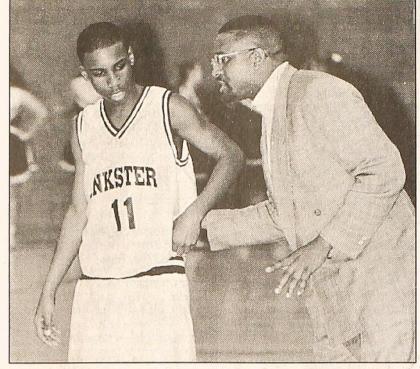

Belleville could make it a year by beating Rouge, considered the best team this state has to offer in any class.

If the Panthers should lose, Romulus would have to beat a tough and eager for redemption Wayne Memorial on the Wayne floor to salvage a share of the title that was in its mitts until Willow Run snatched it. Wayne will host Romulus to-

A take-no-hostages River Rouge slaughtered Inkster 82-38 Friday night to put a lock on a share of the Mega Conference Red Division basketball championship.

'They just overwhelmed us," said Inkster coach Hilton Graham, commenting on mismatch. "Rouge just has too much talent. You know they are ranked No. 1 in the state, and that's in the super class." Rouge could wrap up all of the title tonight at Belleville. A victory over Rod Fisher's Tigers would put the title out of reach of Romulus, which slipped into second place after falling to Willow Run last Friday. The Eagles have a 9-2 record, while Rouge sits atop of the Mega Red standings alone with a 10-1 mark.

Inkster managed to stay with the more experienced, taller and physical Rouge for one period, before the Vikings collapsed.

Rouge's Charles Kage and Rodney Hughes took command and supplied the Panthers with the ammunition to blow their hosts off the hardwood.

Salem outscored the Chargers 15-14 and 16-13 in the final two periods.

Senior guard Matt Mair and center Tony Jancevski pumped in 13-points each to share the game's individual scoring honors. Teammates Andy Power and Jeff McKian added eight each.

Churchill's best came from Ryan Vickers and Erik Uhlinger, who split 22 points between them.

Would you believe Wayne finally won a close one in OT?

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

When Belleville sophomore guard C. J. Grantham managed to put up and in a "doubleclutch, miraculous shot", executed in the final 10 seconds, that tied the game Friday night with Wayne at 62, you could see frustration written all over Wayne coach Chuck Henry's

"I thought to myself, 'no, not again'," Henry would say afterwards. "What am I doing wrong?'

Probably nothing.

But for the fifth time this season, Henry and Wayne have been involved in what sportswriters call cliffhangers and the Wayne-Belleville rematch was certainly that.

Grantham's "desperation shots" basket capped an 18-8 Belleville run in the final quarter.

However, unlike the five victories that eluded Wayne this season, this one had a different ending - Wayne managed to win one, 73-69, in overtime at the expense of Belleville..

The winner of the Glenn-Central match up takes on the winner of the Tuesday night game between conference champ Plymouth-Salem and Farmington.

The championship will be decided Friday night on a neutral court (Livonia Churchill).

Glenn managed to break away from Western in the second period after the two were tied at 11 for the first eight minutes. With guard

Glenn never trailed in the second half. Western continued to play the odds that Glenn would make mistakes and commit turnovers in the second half, but Glenn held their mistakes to a minimum. However, the Warriors did have an 8-7 edge on the scoring sheet for the third period.

But back-the-back baskets by Lawson and Jones early in the final period lifted the Rockets to a 10point lead and forced Western to rethink its strategy the rest of the game. The Warriors decided to abandon their cat-and-mouse game for a more aggressive assault.

Glenn managed to protect its lead with a 19-14 scoring edge in the final

Lawson had one of his better nights as he connected for a game high 20 points, which included one trey. Jones added 14 points and Glenn center Yaku Moten finished with 10 points and seven rebounds.

The victory was Glenn's 12th in 18 starts this season.

Run has given Rouge the edge, but they still have to play Belleville and Belleville can surprise anyone."

"However, a Belleville upset won't mean a thing if we can't get the job done at Wayne.

Ironically, Romulus played its best quarter of the season, scoring 31 points against Belleville in the final quarter to seal a 68-55 victory over the Tigers last Tuesday before they flew into Willow Run Friday

Willow Run was not impressed. The Flyers forced their visitors into a catchup situation after they soared to a 24-17 first-period lead and, after that, the hosts refused to yield.

"We weren't ourselves. We made mistakes on offense that proved costly," DelGiudice said. "Offensively, we were horrendous.'

Likewise, at the free throw line, where the Eagles made only 16 of 29.

With Richard Williams piloting the Flyers, Willow Run took off from the seven-point lead to a 44-32 advantage at half. Romulus came back and outscored their hosts 12-10 and 18-13 in the final two periods, but, as the saying goes, it was too little, too late.

Williams launched the assault early. He sank 11 of his 20 points in the first period, and appeared unstoppable, until DelGiudice made some adjustments defensively.

Melvin Hicks provided the Eagles with 21 points and Brandon DeYampert contributed 13. But the Eagle output fell drastically. The only other notable contributor was 6-7

In their Tuesday night encounter against Belleville, the Eagles stunned their hosts with a 31-point fourth period behind the balanced scoring of DeYampert, who had nine of those 31; Myron Gray scored seven while Hicks and Rob Collins each had six.

Belleville led after one, 17-16, due, in part, to the outstanding effort of guard John Edwards, who hit five threes in his game high 25 points for the evening.

The Tigers held leads of 30-27 and 44-37 at the end of the second and third quarters, but they couldn't match the 31point Romulus outburst in the finale.

Tired of Good OK Cops

To the editor:

My letter is in regards to the man's letter (Frank Warinner) saying Skene isn't the only 'police victim'. I live in Westland and our streets have also been the victims of the police department, judicial system and the city hall. There is malicious misconduct from the top of the mayors office right down to the police department and Mr. Warinner says it best when he describes them as Key Stone Cops. We have talked to several other police departments and all they have to say is Westland Police Department is the laughing stock of Wayne County.

When I read his letter, I too, was floored at the similarities in our case on our street, as with his and Mr. Skene's case. I'm sorry to say I smell a fish in Mildred's case also and I wish someone would investigate this matter for this poor woman. Maybe if enough letters are written about this, more people would come out and claim the same thing. I'll bet we are not alone. We have tried to change this miscarriage of justice but everyone from the mayor down to the police department just wants to brush it under the rug. Maybe

Mr. Skene or Mr. Warinner can help guide me as to what to do to stop this type of treatment from city servants. I am having a very hard time getting anywhere with this regime in Westland.

What do we do next? Who do we go to?

If I may sincerely state, in addition to Sandra Lines letter, and many of same, related similarity - we all need to earn our wings everyday. If we (don't go out of the way, therein, will (never) really find

Thanks to Wayne-Westland bond supporters

To the editor:

Westland

As the tri-chair of the Citizens for a Better Education committee, we would like to thank all of the citizens of the Wayne-Westland community who came out and supported our bond issue. We are convinced that this bond issue will allow the Wayne-Westland schools to once again become a "lighthouse district" in southeast Michigan.

We would also like to thank the countless volunteers who donated their time and expertise. From the producing of our video, to making phone calls, to attending presentations to show support, we knew they were there as the backbone of this campaign.

A special thank you to our Board of Education for their support and courage. They saw the need and stood firm in their convictions that a bond issue was critical to the good of our children.

Once again, thank you Wayne-Westland for voting for our children and the children

Girls plan to sell

Huron Valley Girl Scouts are aiming high for a new goal: selling one million boxes of Girl Scout Cookies in the 1998 sale, which begins Dec. 20.

Troop proceeds from the sale help Girl Scout troops fund community service projects, field trips, career exploration and travel. Council proceeds provide low-cost camping at the council's three camps, travel opportunities and Girl Scouting for lowincome girls.

With the slogan "Just Imagine: You're One in a Million,'

Huron Valley Girl Scouts are hoping to sell an average of two cases of cookies more per troop. Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has approximately 1100 troops in Washtenaw, Livingston and Monroe Counties and parts of Wayne and Oakland Counties. Last year, Huron Valley Girl Scouts sold 975,480 boxes of cookies.

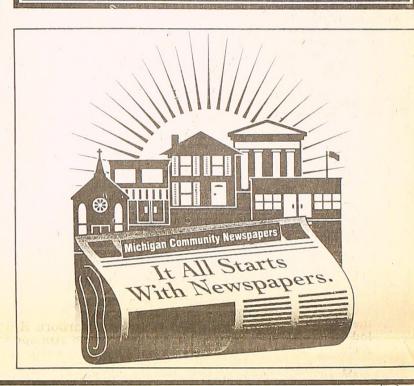

Cookie order- taking will continue through Jan. 18. Cookie deliveries begin Feb. 23. Huron Valley Girl Scouts will also sell cookies from cookie booths Feb. 21 through March 8.

Girl Scout Cookies are second only to Nabisco during the first quarter of the year. All eight popular varieties are back: Thin Mints, Caramel De-Lites, Peanut Butter Patties, Peanut Butter Sandwiches, Shortbread, Five World Cinnamon, and low-fat Lemon Pastry Cremes and Iced Ginger Dai-

The price of a box of cookies remains at $3 for the third year. Less than one third of the price goes to pay for the cookies themselves. The remainder of the money stays in Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Unlike many other youth money-earning projects, a portion of the cookie revenue stays with the troops, so that the girls themselves decide how it is spent. The volunteer Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Board of Directors budgets the remaining proceeds for services to 14,000 girl members and 4,000 adult volunteers.

Call 1-800-49- Scout, extension 403, beginning Dec. 20 to order.

Nissan 240 SX SE Great Handling and Quick Speed

By RITA BEDELL MCN Staff Writer

The Nissan 240 SX SE which I had the pleasure of tooling around town in came with a 2.4 liter DOHC 16 Valve, 4 cylinder engine.

You want quick speed pick up, you got it with this Nissan. Getting on the Expressway and getting up to speed was no problem at all! And there is certainly no reason not to try and take someone off a light with this one.

The power rack and pinion steering in this little sports car made it handle like a dream. It hugged the curves even at higher rates of speed. Lane changing was simple with the slightest turn of the wheel.

The power 4 wheel disc brakes let you stop in a 1/4 second. The only thing I can say I wasn't much impressed with was the suspension system on this Nissan. You felt every little bump in the road. Not only did you feel it, you bounced through it. Although, I am sure, that is the price you pay for a sports car.

The interior was close knit. The seats contour your body, whether you are a large of small person. There was plenty of leg room for the front

Although, I consider myself tall, I had to sit close to the wheel to be able to reach the clutch. This did not leave much room to move at all, and it made it difficult to exit the car. If the seat was put all the way back, exiting was not a problem. A slightly smaller person would have no problem

This did, however, make all the controls of the car very reachable. The 5 speed manual was right in your hand without a reach. The stereo, heat and CFC free air conditioning controls were all well within reach. With a 4 speaker, 60 watt am/fm/cassette stereo system, it made the car sound like it were a home stereo sys-

And with the tilt wheel and having the cruise control on the wheel, you don't miss much.

The headlight and wiper switches both behind the steering wheel made them easy to use while driving. The rear seat was definitely not designed to put any large passengers back there. Maybe children. There is NO leg

Although, there is an upside to the rear seating compartment. The seat folds down so 1998 Nissan 200 SX SE you have a pass through trunk. Even though the car is on the small side, if you want to take a ski trip, there would be no problem at all. Just slip the skis and luggage in the pass through and away you go.

Even if you did not put down the rear seat, surprisingly, the trunk space was quite generous for this being a small

The exterior of the car left you desiring nothing more. The 16 inch low profile tires and alloy wheels, chrome tipped exhaust, rear deck lid spoiler and halogen fog lights made this Nissan a real little beauty.

Safety features were not minimal either. This Nissan has dual air bags, pipe style steel side door guard beams, 3 point seat belt system, and energy absorbing bumpers and steering column.

The Nissan 240 SX SE I test drove was priced at $23,267. The price goes up from there. Gas mileage is not bad. 22 mpg in the city and 28 on the high-

If you are looking for a sports car with plenty of speed, but not too pricey, stop by your local dealer and take a look at the Nissan 240. Once you test drive this Nissan, you may decide not to look any further.
